

Andrew Wilson

As EUSA President, I lead on the overall representation of students to the University. I sit on University committees and meet regularly with members of the University leadership to represent the views of the student body and work to improve the student experience. I also work to create a Students' Association that best reflects the needs and interests of all students so that we can best support, represent and entertain students.

Whilst I am a representative of 40,000+ students, I recognise that I am only one person with my own experiences. I am always here to listen to concerns and problems and work to find a solution to improve students' time in Edinburgh.
