

Douglas Millican

Douglas was Scottish Water's chief executive for over 10 years until stepping down in May 2023. He was previously Scottish Water's finance and regulation director and has worked in the water sector in Scotland for 27 years, playing a key role in its transformation.

Douglas is engaged with organisations that focus on delivering public or community benefit where he brings his experience in leadership, governance, strategic financial management, environmental sustainability, and transformation in customer centric and highly regulated environments.

He is Chair of World Vision UK, a Lay Member of the General Medical Council and a Board Member of the Scottish Government's National Strategy for Economic Transformation Delivery Board.

Douglas is a graduate of the University of Edinburgh and a member of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Scotland.

Register of Interests

Committee Memberships

- University Court
- Audit & Risk Committee (Convener)
- Exception Committee
- Nominations Committee
- Remuneration Committee
- Court Universities Superannuation Scheme (USS) Sub-Group